

Leading & Coaching towards UDL

Exploration to integration of Universal Design for Learning
as a transformative instructional design framework.

Who is this project for?

- SELPAs (and COEs) who want to support LEAs in moving from “exploration” and into “integration” of UDL as a design framework.
- Regional leadership that is committed to building and supporting a “one system” approach to improving outcomes for all students.
- UDL Implementation is most likely a 5-7 year process to fully realize; we want to provide SELPAs (and COE) teams with knowledge and tools to support their individual LEAs as they navigate through at least the first two phases.

CAST's UDL Implementation Process

What does it look like?

- Each project is designed to span approximately two years
 - Year one in a model of “we do” together followed by
 - Year two where the SELPA/COE lead trainers and coaches will engage in another cycle with new participants (“you do”) with Open Access staff providing coaching and mentoring
- We begin each cycle with a two-day “UDL Immersion” to build a shared mindset and vision with all participants
- Work with SELPA/COE Leads to develop and implement individualized training plans and individualized coaching plans, using an expansive library of curated and customized resources.
